

11 September 2013.

Ref: Raphael Lemgruber

To whom it may concern,

Raphael Lemgruber joined St John Ambulance service in Ngaruawahia as a volunteer officer in October of 2012, volunteering his time to the Ambulance service on a regular weekly roster.

In this time I have found Raphael to be very reliable, trust worthy, empathetic and a great team member. He has the ability to adapt to varying situations, and follow instructions under difficult circumstances. He has the ability to problem solve and offer valuable input under pressure.

Raphael has a lot of enthusiasm for the job with a desire for further knowledge and experience, this displayed in his interactions with patients, work colleges and other healthcare professionals.

Unfortunately Raphael will need to leave our team in Ngaruawahia as soon as he can advance his career through the New Zealand Navy I wish him all the success.

Bryan Ralph.

Emergency Medical technician

St John Ambulance, Ngaruawahia.

New Zealand.

Ph: 021 959 530